

CARES Act – Emergency Financial Aid Grants Initial 30-day Report

Background

On March 27, 2020, the President of the United States signed H.R. 748 the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES Act), which established emergency relief funds to organizations and individuals affected by the coronavirus pandemic. The Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund (HEERF), found in Section 18004 of the CARES Act, provides funding to institutions of higher education. The following information is provided by Regis University (Regis) as required by the Department of Education (ED) in order to comply with the reporting requirements under the CARES Act. This is Regis University's first 30-day progress report and presents information as of May 27, 2020. Additional reports will be provided every 45 days.

Acknowledgement and Assurances

Regis University signed and returned the Certification and Agreement to the U.S. Department of Education on April 16, 2020 for the HEERF Funds for Emergency Financial Aid Grants. Regis received its grant award notification dated April 27, 2020. In keeping with the terms of the certification, Regis will use no less than 50% of the funds received, as stated under 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act, to provide Emergency Financial Aid Grants directly to students.

Funding Information

Regis was notified that it was entitled to receive $2,448,686 to be distributed in two installments. The first installment for $1,224,343 was applied for on April 16. On April 27, Regis received notification that its grant was selected for funding. The second installment for $1,224,343 was applied for on April 23. On May 6, Regis received notification that its grant was selected for funding.

From the first installment, Regis brought together a group of leaders from the Offices of Financial Aid, Student Affairs, Student Accounts, Financial Affairs, and the Provost to establish a process to aid our students consistent with the CARES Act.

In order to best serve students as quickly as possible, Regis University posted the CARES application at <https://www.emailmeform.com/builder/form/eZaehx56rk> on April 29, 2020 and sent notification to students.

The total amount of Emergency Financial Aid Grants distributed directly to students under Section 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act as of May 27, 2020 is $475,560. This report will be updated every 45 days from this initial posting until the entire $1,224,343 has been disbursed.

From the second installment and consistent with Section 18004(c) of the CARES Act, $992,051 has been distributed as refunds for spring semester student housing and dining costs. Approximately $22,000 has been issued as refunds for unexpected costs due to the interruption of study abroad program cancellations. The remaining $210,292 has been used to offset technology costs incurred during the spring semester in order to strengthen the technology infrastructure for the transition to 100% online education. The remaining funds will be used to pay for additional technology investments aimed at supporting the academic scenarios developed for the fall 2020 semester.

Student Eligibility

The estimated total number of students at Regis University eligible to participate in programs under Section 484 in Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965 and thus potentially eligible to receive Emergency Financial Aid Grants to students under Section 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act is 3,030. We sent an email communication to all of these students notifying them of the application process. We also posted a general communication on our Regis Updates website to catch any students who felt they should also be included and allow them to apply. As of the date of this initial 30-day Disclosure, the total number of students who have received an Emergency Financial Aid Grant to students under Section 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act is 679.

Methodology

The methods used by Regis University to determine which students receive Emergency Financial Aid Grants and how much they would receive under Section 18004(a)(1) of the CARES Act are as follows:

In accordance with ED's direction, Regis is prioritizing the distribution of funds to eligible students demonstrating the greatest need. Regis students requesting funds must have been enrolled in the spring semester and are required to submit the CARES Application certifying eligibility and describing expenses related to their costs of attendance (e.g. food, housing, course materials, technology, healthcare, childcare, and transportation) due to COVID-19-related campus operations disruptions. Student requests are limited to $750.00 in order to distribute the funds as widely as possible; however, Regis has the discretion to award above this amount.

All requests are reviewed individually to confirm a student's eligibility per requirements set forth by ED, to establish a student's level of need, and to evaluate the claimed expenses. A student's level of need is determined using information available to Regis University's Office of Financial Aid, including, but not limited to: Pell grant eligibility, previously awarded emergency aid, expected family contribution, etc. Claimed expenses must be reasonable, related to a student's cost of attendance as enumerated in the list provided by ED, due to COVID-19-related campus operations disruptions, and must not be duplicated in other requests for emergency assistance as reviewed by the Office of Financial Aid and/or the Regis University Office of Student Affairs Emergency Funding Committee.

Regis receives Higher Education Emergency Relief funding for eligible students \(April 29, 2020\)

The CARES Act, which establishes and funds the Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund (HEERF), directs institutions of higher education ("institutions") to use no less than 50 percent of funds received under Sections 18004(a)(1) and 18004(c) of the CARES Act to provide emergency financial aid grants to students for expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus.

Institutions are authorized grant funding with the only statutory requirement that the funds be used to cover student's expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus including eligible expenses such as food, housing, course materials, technology, health care, and childcare. Loss of a job is not a result of the disruption of campus operations and does not qualify for HEERF.

Institutions are given latitude on how to distribute the funding and this means that each institution may develop its own system and process for determining how to allocate these funds. Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos encouraged the leadership of each institution to prioritize students with the greatest need.

Per further guidance received from the Department of Education, students who were enrolled in exclusively online courses are not eligible for this funding and only students who are or could be eligible to participate in programs under Section 484 in Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended (HEA), may receive emergency financial aid grants. If a student has filed a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), then the student has demonstrated eligibility to participate in programs under Section 484 the HEA.

If you do not qualify under the CARES Act for HEERF but you are experiencing financial distress, you may contact the Office of Student Affairs Emergency Funding Committee at studentaffairs@regis.edu to apply for support.

Eligible students: Regis University will provide notice through RegisNet accounts to all students who were not enrolled exclusively online during the spring term prior to March 13 and who have a 19/20 FAFSA on file with the Office of Financial Aid. Other students who believe they might be eligible can access the HEERF Application here. All applications received by June 1, 2020, will be reviewed and considered for funding during this initial timeframe. As funding is limited, students will be reviewed for funding based on their financial need as calculated by FAFSA and the information provided in the application. Students receiving funding will be notified directly through RegisNet accounts and all other applicants will receive a general notice when funds have been depleted.

Directed Email to Potentially Eligible Students:

Hi Catherine,

The CARES Act, which establishes and funds the Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund (HEERF), directs institutions of higher education ("institutions") to use no less than 50 percent of funds received under Sections 18004(a)(1) and 18004(c) of the CARES Act to provide emergency financial aid grants to students for expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus.

Institutions are authorized grant funding with the only statutory requirement that the funds be used to cover student's expenses related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus including eligible expenses such as food, housing, course materials, technology, health care, and childcare. Loss of a job is not a result of the disruption of campus operations and does not qualify for HEERF.

Institutions are given latitude on how to distribute the funding and this means that each institution may develop its own system and process for determining how to allocate these funds. Secretary DeVos did encourage the leadership of each institution to prioritize students with the greatest need.

You have been identified as someone who meets the minimum eligibility to apply for funding. Meaning you were not enrolled exclusively in online courses during the spring 2020 semester and you have a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) on file with the Office of Financial Aid. If, due to the coronavirus and the disruption of campus operations, you had additional expenses such as food, housing, course materials, technology, health care, and/or childcare, you may qualify to receive a portion of this funding.

All applications received by June 1, 2020 will be reviewed and considered for a HEERF grant. As funding is limited, students' applications will be reviewed based on financial need as calculated by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the information provided in the HEERF Application. Students receiving funding will be notified directly through RegisNet accounts and all other applicants will receive a general notice when funds have been depleted.

If you do not receive a HEERF grant and you are experiencing financial distress, you may contact the Office of Student Affairs Emergency Funding Committee at studentaffairs@regis.edu to apply for support.

We hope you are doing well and staying healthy. Thank you and take care.
