

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼RSS

REGIS UNIVERSITY

..... Your Regis Neighborhood News

Here's what's happening virtually at Regis University this month.

FEATURED EVENTS

Join Good Trouble Conversations during Black History Month
Noon-1:30 p.m.

Feb. 12: What does Faith Have to Do with Justice?

Feb. 26: The Sacrifice of Walter Springs: The Black Soldier WWII Experience

Inspired by the late Congressman and civil rights activist John Lewis, Regis University's Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusive Excellence offers a University's Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusive Excellence offers a moderated, open and free discussion about current race and justice topics and how we can create positive change. Learn more about the conversations and email diverse@regis.edu to register.

Stories from Wartime: A Civic Conversation and Public Lecture Series

6-8 p.m.

Feb. 25

Deepen your understanding of the complexities of military and modern conflict. In this upcoming discussion, "World War II: Spotlight on the Tuskegee Airmen," explore the experiences of African Americans in the military and during wartime. Register for the virtual event here.

See all upcoming virtual events

COMMUNITY EVENTS

Smiley Branch Library Opens for Curbside Pickup and Book Drop Returns

Library users rejoice! Though renovations continue inside, Smiley Branch Library is now offering curbside pickup and book drop returns. Appointments are not needed for a pickup; once you receive the notification that your book is ready, simply walk up and call when you arrive. Check out the Denver Public Library for all curbside pickup locations and hours here.

2021 Women's Leadership Series I Authentically You

6:30-7:30 p.m.

Feb. 11

Mark your calendars for the first Women's Leadership Series event of 2021, hosted by Regis' Anderson College of Business and Computing and Corporate Cowgirl Up. Three powerhouse technology leaders will share how authenticity has helped them achieve career success. Register at no cost for this virtual panel here.

Conversations in Care: Soulcare for Troubled Times

5:30-6:30 p.m.

Feb. 23

Discover strategies to tend to our deeper spiritual, emotional and physical wellbeing to minimize depression, anxiety, fear and loneliness during trying times. Dr. Betsy Hall of Regis' Division of Counseling and Family Therapy will lead this virtual conversation. Register for the event here.

SEED Sowing Chats | Harlin Singh - Head of Sustainable Investing at Citi

2-3:30 p.m.

Feb. 25

SEED Sowing Chats create space for folks to engage with different answers to the question, "How do we create a sustainable world?" As Head of Sustainable Investing, Harlin Singh works across Citibank's investment divisions to develop and oversee investment strategies along the full spectrum of sustainability to ensure the integration of sustainable practices aligns with Citibank's best thinking on research, asset allocation and diversification. Register here for this virtual discussion.

Community Spotlight

Regis Berkeley Community Garden

At the northwest corner of the Regis University campus, down a narrow sidewalk and under a grape arbor, lies the quiet and fertile Regis University Berkeley Community Garden. Established in 2010, the garden is a partnership between Regis University and Denver Urban Gardens. With 25 available 11-by-16-foot plots, campus employees and nearby residents toil in the dirt to grow food for themselves and proudly donate excess produce to local food banks.

The Community Garden has been successful from the start because of the unwavering commitment of the volunteer garden leaders. Leadership comes from Regis employees and community members, and they all share in the management of the garden. From pest and weed control, to educational workshops, to potlucks, happy hours and workdays, the volunteer leaders oversee structured duties and processes throughout the season to maintain the beauty and fun of the space.

Garden plots can be reserved for $52 per season, a fee that includes water on an automatic drip line for each plot. The garden has one raised bed for accessibility to those who may need it.

Any unclaimed beds will be cultivated by the other the members and volunteers, and the harvest will be donated. The goal is to create space for anyone who wants to garden.

It's never too early to start thinking about your summer squash, vine-ripened tomatoes, and fresh greens. Email Nicole Marcisz at Regis University now to learn how you can reserve your spot for the upcoming growing season. Let the seedlings begin!

Did you know?

Become a Member of Berkeley Regis United Neighbors (BRUN)

BRUN has waived its normal $10 membership fee until the group's annual meeting later this spring. Help strengthen the Berkeley Regis neighborhood by joining Denver's largest registered neighborhood organization here.

Do you want to work at Regis?

A sample of Regis University job listings this month:

- Events Coordinator
- Parking Enforcement Officer - Auxiliary Services
- Admissions Counselor

View all Regis jobs

Subscribe to Front Door

Copyright © 2021 Regis University, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.

